Published on 26 March 2024

Up2School, a reference platform for orientation towards Grandes Ecoles of business, engineering and Sciences Po, has studied the different training courses offered by 8 major business schools in the supply chain and logistics sectors.

Evaluated on 14 criteria, EM Normandie took first place in the ranking, notably with the MSc Supply Chain Management and the new MS Supply Chain, Logistics and Innovations.

The integration of EM Normandie alumni put in the spotlight

With 12% of graduates working in this sector, EM Normandie stands out as one of the schools best established in the job market.

“Integration into the sector is also achieved through business creation. It is EM Normandie which stands out in terms of entrepreneurship. In the latest promotions, there are eight companies created by alumni in the sector. This is particularly the case for Yemp, specializing in event logistics. »
