The Jules Le Cesne high school, recognized for its technological courses, offered a similar BTS a few years ago as part of adult training. Today, the high school is breathing new life by offering a BTS in Hotel and Catering Management with 3 options: service, cuisine and accommodation.

Missing in the Le Havre region, this training welcomes 20 work-study students (for 28 places). It trains the professions of room manager, butler, chef, reception manager or housekeeper.

“Students must meet the requirements of the profession, they will be the showcase of the establishment,” explains Xavier Levassort, Deputy Director for Professional and Technological Training.

Exceptional sponsors

Like all training courses taught at high school, the BTS MHR has its sponsor, Isabelle Delaunay, Director of North-West Human Resources for the casino operator Barrière.

Stéphane Tendero, director of the Fouquet's restaurant in Paris, is the sponsor of all room service training and Florian Barbarot, Norman chef resident in Les Damps (Eure) and participant in Top Chef 2019, sponsors the kitchen learners.
