

MICHAËL HAUCHECORNE, NEW DIRECTOR OF THE SCIENCES PO CAMPUS IN LE HAVRE!

Published on 14 March 2024

Mathias Vicherat, director of Sciences Po Paris, has appointed Michaël Hauchecorne Director of the Le Havre Campus. Graduated with two master's degrees, in English and in teaching foreign languages, he taught in engineering schools, in preparatory classes and at the University of Le Havre-Normandie.

Beyond his teaching activities, international relations have always occupied a privileged place in the career of Michaël Hauchecorne. He thus contributes to the management of several international networks and has held expert positions with various inter-university cooperation organizations for more than ten years in France and abroad.

A teacher in Le Havre since 2013, Vice-President of the University of Le Havre for seven years, he was successively responsible for international relations, then studies, training, student life and the internationalization of training. Michaël Hauchecorne knows the Le Havre Campus well, where he has been teaching French as a foreign language since 2013.
